The View
From My Window
WITH PASTOR JOEL

I heard a gentleman say that he had been a rebellious teenager. He got tired of always being told what to do – when to get up, where he needed to be .... He especially hated being told he needed to cut his hair. Weary of all the rules in his family he ran away & joined the Marines.

The truth is, no matter how far we run or in what direction we find responsibilities waiting for us. There are consequences to our actions. We cannot live as we please & expect God to be pleased. The Christian walk is not about God blessing our every deed but about submitting our lives to His will. It is in following Him that we find our purpose, our joy, our life. How you define your relationship with God & what you choose to believe about Him will determine whether you waste your life or invest it in such a way that it pays eternal dividends.

- Pastor Joel
