The View from My Window

with Pastor Joel

It's interesting that today before we install a pastor into office they have to wait until they complete some sort of a degree, then they have to wait until they receive some kind of credential hoping to one day be ordained. We wait for countless things and reward accomplishments of many kinds but where is the waiting on God? The Lord doesn't have a set time table: wait four years before you do this or two years before you do that or a decade... His ordinations can come suddenly or take a lifetime. His credentials don't need the backing of a denomination or bishop. Do you know Him? Do you know Him? Are you familiar with His voice? When was the last time you took time to seek His face, His will, His presence?

One of the very basic formulas we find in Scripture is that power follows time spent with Him alone. Public ministry is fueled by private prayer. Find new ways, new times to connect with the Lord. Wait on Him and the power will come.
