The View from My Window

With Pastor Joel

If you've ever trained a puppy, you know the training never ends. Your first goal is, of course, to "housebreak" the dog: make sure it potties outside. Then you might try your hand at some basic obedience commands: "sit, stay, come..." Eventually you get to know one another enough that you respond to each other's cues: the dog goes to the door so you know he needs out; you pick up your keys and the dog gets excited, hoping to go along, etc.

Somewhere in all of this training a relationship develops. The dog loves to snuggle up to you whenever you sit on the couch or likes to follow you around the house. When you come home the dog acts like a joy bomb just exploded. You buy them more expensive treats than you buy for other members of your family.

The point is, when you love someone, or something, it shows. In today's text God reveals how He knows you love Him. Can you guess what it is?
