The View from My Window

With Pastor Joel

Sooner or later we all come to the realization that life is too big for us. We may be able to do many things well but no one can do everything. Obstacles come that we cannot navigate alone. Problems arise that are way above our pay grade. Enemies attack us with overwhelming force and unless another intervenes, we're history.

God has a way of calling us into situations that we cannot survive without Him. However, as we cry out to Him, as He responds to us, we rise above the challenge to discover that the promises of God are true, and that He really does equip those He calls. Far too many believers have stopped listening for the voice of the Holy Spirit because He keeps bidding them to do things they're uncomfortable doing. He wants them to share Jesus with a neighbor or teach a Sunday School class or whatever. They are afraid. But, IF it is God calling, they will experience the thrill of their life IF only they will obey. Fear is almost necessary in order for the result to be exhilarating!

Listen for God's voice. Obey what you hear. Live an exciting life.
