The View from My Window

With Pastor Joel

In the military they say, "No plan survives first contact with the enemy." That's a condensed version of the original saying which states, "Only the layman believes that in the course of a campaign he sees the consistent implementation of an original thought that has been considered in advance in every detail and retained to the end."

God's plan to evangelize the world and win as many people to Christ as possible was doomed to failure from the very beginning because of the strength of the enemy and the weakness of God's children. The exception, however, is that the Lord has provided a special empowerment, a secret weapon, if you will, that turns fallible followers into outlets for the power of God. On their own, they often cause more harm than good but when this power flows through them they accomplish amazing things for the Kingdom of God. This secret weapon is the Holy Spirit. Learn to yield yourself to His control more & more.
