The View from My Window

With Pastor Joel

Everything we do here on earth is temporary. Every great athlete plays his or her last game, gifted musicians play their last piece, runners run their final race, painters... No matter how much you love to do something, no matter how much you hate to endure another thing, both will someday end. In fact, life is a series of adjustments between what you used to do and what you now do.

Remember when your parents used to put you in the child seat of the grocery cart? Remember when you used to put your child there? Your grandchild? Your great-grandchild? Okay, maybe not. Sometimes I go a little too far.

We grieve losses of our abilities, losses of loved ones, losses of relationships and positions. We often look forward to promotions, graduations, new situations, raises, better housing, etc. Even good moves come with a dose of anxiety.

Heaven isn't temporary. If you are in Christ, the day will come when you will enter heaven where the pleasures, relationships, abilities, opportunities and joy will never end! Everything will be perpetually new in its excitement, beauty and enjoyment, but not in its need to be adjusted to, sacrificed for, or require a learning curve (like learning a new computer skill). Everything will feel natural, familiar, comfortable and joyous. Spend a little less time stressing over this life and a little more time looking forward to a NEW life.
