The View from My Window

With Pastor Joel

Do you remember the story of the three little pigs? Two of those pigs were foolish and didn't put enough thought or effort into building a home strong enough to keep the big bad wolf from blowing it down. The third pig was both wise & industrious. He built his house out of bricks. When the wolf huffed and puffed, he wasn't able to blow piggy #3's house down!

Some decisions we make can save or alter the direction of our life, which in turn can determine our eternal destiny. As important as the outcome of those decisions might be, there are times they need to be made on the fly. Sometimes we can undo some of the damage of a poor decision, but at other times the damage is permanent. Do your best to develop a habit of doing what is right so that when the time comes that you don't have enough time to make an informed decision, you will be more inclined to make a good choice.
